The body of a woman was found lying in a field near the Musaferkhana in Malur with the throat cut by a sharp instrument Nobody in Malur could identify the girl. It was Thursday (is a -- shandy day) and arrangements were made to show the body to all the people who came from different parts of this and the adjacent taluks Notwithstanding this no one claimed the body. It was sent for post-mortem and a photograph was taken by Division Inspector for future identification.

There was no doubt that the girl had been murdered and - sickle was found buried in the ground, 50 yards from the scene of-occurence.

Police and private individuals were sent to different -- parts to see if any girl was missing in any of the villages. severa informations were received and nearly 20 girls who had run away --- from their parents and husbands were traced and restored to their - homes at Mattigeri- Dankani Kote- Koppam Bowringpet and other place At last Constable No: 78 Junja and 443 Abdul Khader who had been - sent to Hoskote and Anekal taluks to verify certain informations - with a man of the Bangalore District brought information that a -- girl answering to the description of the murdered one had been -- some time previously given in marriage to Mandi Muniappa' s son -- Moonisawmy. The Inspector knew this person to be a very dangerous

naracter and capable of doing any thing; so he started at once o Bangalore with the above constables and went to the accused's ouse. On private enquiry he learnt that he was not at home and as not likely to be there for days to come. However his whereabouts were ascertained and several of the dancing girls' houses ere looked into. The accused was at last found in one Chinnasani ouse at about 2 A.M. on 8-8-03 i.e. nearly 25 days after the murder. Till then the body had not been identified. Constable-- c: 132 Munisamy of the Bangalore City Police and a private --- ndividual named Dasappa, servant in the State Huzur Treasury, endered Inspector great help in finding the accused who had oncealed himself in the dancing girls'house. The accused was sked to produce his wife and said that he had left her at ---- oskota. He was given a chance of verifying his statement and as sent to Hoskote and investigation was continued on the clue btained. It was then ascertained that the accused had killed is wife Bathemma, a native of Hoskote in cold blood, his motive eing that she had dishonored him by going to a dancing girls' ouse and living with her for some time.

Witnesses of Bangalore, Malur, Hoskote and owringpet stated that they knew about the case and their statements agreed with the confessional statement made by the ----- ccused before the General Assistant Commissioner and 1st. class

Magistrate

Magistrate and the committing Magistrate. He was then committed to trial before the sessions Court where he was found guilty and and sentenced to be hanged. The work shewn in this case was very smart. It was a matter of extreme difficulty to find out who the deceased was; and the matter was further complicated by the fact that she had been takenfrom Bangalore, where she lived, to Malur by night and murdered there the same night.

The action of the Inspector in photographing the corpse - was intelligent, and the promptness with which he followed up the accused, on very slight information, was also very creditable.

To the knowledge of the District Superintendent of Police the amount of work done by the Inspector and his men in tracing -- every possible missing woman was very large. Details of the woman traced were reported by the District Superintendent of Police in weekly reports. This was the only line of investigation which could possiblybe successful and if it had not been pursued with great -- patience the murder would never have been detected.

This work deserves special recognition and the following rewards are recommended.

1. Inspector B. Narayana Rao-Promotion to the next grade.*

*.or a reward of Rs. 50/-.

2. Police constable Abdul Khader. } Reward of Rs. 15/- each for first securing information in Hoskote coserning the missing woman .
